

FALL 2010 FORUM

Enabling Best Practice Care

With the demands of Reform and Meaningful Use, are we losing focus on the real value and benefit of healthcare IT? Delivering Best Practice Care and using IT to support it has been the focus at Intermountain Healthcare for decades. Join us to share insights on how Intermountain and other leading organizations have accomplished this goal, and how the Reform agenda has been integrated into their strategies.

Murray, UT

8:00 a.m. Continental Breakfast8:30 a.m. – 9:30 a.m. Welcome and Overview

- ◆ Marc Probst, CIO and Vice President, Information Systems, Intermountain Healthcare

Intermountain Medical Center is the largest hospital in the intermountain west region and the new flagship of Intermountain Healthcare, serving as a major adult referral center for six surrounding states and more than 75 regional health care institutions.

What sets Intermountain Healthcare apart is how information is used at the center of all care. Information integration is a key to delivering best clinical practice at the lowest appropriate cost. From the beginning, Intermountain has focused on collecting, analyzing and sharing information that enables system-wide the most appropriate proven care.

9:30 a.m. – 11:30 a.m. Tours

The tours will highlight HELP2, the new version of the pioneering clinical IT system that made Intermountain Healthcare a leader in delivering quality care for more than 20 years. In addition, Intermountain and GE Healthcare have partnered to develop ECIS (Enterprise Clinical Information System), the next generation of clinical computing software already in use by Intermountain's ED and Shock Trauma units. Tours will demonstrate how ECIS, HELP2, and other advanced clinical systems support the delivery of best practice care in those units as well as Newborn ICU, Cardiology Catheterization Lab, and Outpatient Imaging.

11:30 a.m. – 12:00 noon Tour recap and Q&A

- ◆ Marc Probst, CIO and Vice President, Information Systems, Intermountain Healthcare

12:00 noon Bus returns to Snowbird Resort

ABOUT THE FORUM
