

Steve R. Ommen, MD, FACC, FAHA
Mayo Clinic
Rochester, Minnesota

Education

Dr. Steve R. Ommen is a Professor of Medicine, Mayo Clinic College of Medicine, a Consultant in Cardiovascular Diseases and Internal Medicine, and Director of the Cardiomyopathy Clinic, Mayo Clinic. He is the Medical Director for AskMayoExpert, Associate Dean of the Connected Care Delivery Platform, and Medical Director, Center for Connected Care.

Dr. Ommen received his Bachelor of Sciences degree in Biomedical Engineering from Northwestern University. His undergraduate medical education, Internal Medicine residency and Cardiovascular Diseases fellowship were all completed at Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota. He has earned fellowships in the American College of Cardiology and the American Heart Association Council on Clinical Cardiology.

Dr. Ommen is Co-director of the Mayo Cardiovascular Review Course for Cardiology Boards and Recertification, and participates as a faculty member at several Continuing Medical Education conferences.

Awards and Honors

Dr. Ommen has received several awards throughout his career including the Outstanding Achievement Award in Clinical Cardiology (1999), the Mayo Award of Individual Excellence (2004), Excellence in Teaching Recognition for Mayo Clinic College of Medicine (2005), and the Outstanding Course Director Award from the Mayo School of Continuing Medical Education (2005).

Scientific Participation

Dr. Ommen is a member of the Journal of the American College of Cardiology Editorial Board, and manuscript reviewer for the Journal of the American College of Cardiology, American Journal of Cardiology, the American Heart Journal, the Journal of the American Society of Echocardiography, and Circulation. Dr. Ommen also serves as an abstract grader for the annual scientific sessions of both the American College of Cardiology and the American Heart Association. He has presented numerous original research abstracts at national and international scientific sessions. He has also served on

“Meet-the-Experts” panels, How-to sessions, and as faculty for Core Curriculum at ACC, AHA, and ASE Annual Sessions.

Research Interests

Research interests in the non-invasive assessment of cardiac hemodynamics, and diastolic function and in hypertrophic cardiomyopathy have resulted in over 100 peer-reviewed publications for Dr. Ommen. With respect to research in hypertrophic cardiomyopathy, a focus on translational studies and optimal clinical management strategies has resulted in one of the most successful and recognized HCM research programs worldwide.